Meet the Candidates

A "Meet the Candidates" program will be held at the Romulus Community Schools' administrative offices (36540 Grant Road) on Monday, April 7, at 6 p.m.

Carole Bales, executive secretary to Superintendent Carl Weiss, reports that all five Board of Education candidates – Carl Brooks, Danielle Funderburg, Thomas Kuderik, Derran Shelby, and Jay Williams – have been invited to the event.

The candidates will vie for two available Board seats in the election set for Tuesday, May 6.

City-wide Yard Sale

Romulus residents are invited to take part in the annual City-wide Yard Sale, set for Thursday, May 15, through Sunday, May 18. (If two or more of the sale dates are "rained out," the event will be rescheduled for May 29–June 1.)

To register for a free sale permit – and have your address included in free newspaper advertising for the event – stop in at the City of Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation (located in the Romulus Athletic Center at 35765 Northline) no later than 5 p.m. on Wednesday, April 23. Residents registering after the deadline will receive a free permit, but may not be included in advertisements.

For info, call 734-941-8665.

WCAA Postpones Vote on Airport Master Plan

Opponents of a proposed Master Plan being considered by the Wayne County Airport Authority Board of Directors were relieved by the Board's March 20 decision to postpone its vote on the matter.

Romulus officials – who say the plan provides for the expansion of Detroit Metro Airport at the expense of about 3,500 residents on the City's south side – hope the delay will give them time to work out an alternative less devastating to their community's population and tax base.

The WCAA Board is expected to take up the Master Plan issue once again at its May 22 meeting, which will be held at the Westin Hotel (McNamara Terminal) at 1:30 p.m.

Athletic Center's Opening Gets Enthusiastic Response

Romulus Athletic Center staffers were kept busy registering new members on April 1 – the day that the facility officially opened.

The Romulus Athletic Center's official opening on April 1 drew numerous area residents, who came to tour the beautiful facility and sign up for membership.

Some of the many attractive features of the new, 89,000-square-foot complex are:

This free event – open to the public – will allow those who attend to use most RAC facilities. Other attractions will include a health fair, vendor offerings, and more.

The Romulus Athletic Center – located at 35765 Northline – is open Monday through Saturday from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sunday from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. For more information, call 734-942-2223. □

Happy Hunting!

As dauntless as mail carriers, about 200 youngsters and their families braved snow and cold to take part in the annual City of Romulus Easter Egg Hunt on March 22. Thankfully, conditions at the hunt site (the park behind the Romulus Senior Center) were greatly improved by the efforts of City Department of Public Works employees, who cleared the area for the little ones.

Paying for Reconstruction in Iraq

By US Senator Carl Levin (D-MI)

During the five years of war in Iraq, the United States government has spent approximately half a trillion dollars. That funding includes billions of dollars devoted to reconstruction of Iraq's infrastructure, training Iraqi security forces, and rebuilding Iraq's economy.

But while American taxpayers have been funding Iraq's recovery, reports indicate that the Iraqi government has accrued billions of dollars of assets that sit in bank accounts around the world.

At the outset of the Iraq War in March 2003, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz was asked whom he expected would pay for the rebuilding of Iraq. He answered, "There's a lot of money to pay for this. It doesn't have to be U.S. taxpayer money. And it starts with the assets of the Iraqi people ... the oil revenues of that country could bring between 50 and 100 billion dollars over the course of the next two or three years.... We are dealing with a country that can really finance its own reconstruction and relatively soon."

This assessment was correct in part: the U.S. State Department estimates that Iraq oil sales garnered revenues of $41 billion in 2007. With oil prices on the rise, it looks possible that they will collect $60 billion in 2008. But despite billions of dollars in revenues, these funds have not been spent on Iraqi reconstruction as hoped.

Recently I was joined by my colleague on the Senate Armed Services Committee, Republican Senator John Warner of Virginia, in a request for an inquiry into Iraqi oil revenues and the funding of reconstruction in Iraq.

Our conversations with both Iraqis and Americans during visits to Iraq, as well as official U.S. government and unofficial media reports, have convinced us that the Iraqi Government is not doing nearly enough to provide essential services and improve the quality of life of its citizens.

In fact, we believe that it has been overwhelmingly U.S. taxpayer money that has funded Iraq reconstruction over the last five years, despite Iraq raking in billions of dollars in oil revenue over that time period. Much of that revenue appears to be deposited in non-Iraqi banks.

We asked the U.S. Comptroller General, who as head of the Government Accountability Office is charged with investigating how the federal government spends taxpayer dollars, to report back to us on how much oil revenue Iraq has collected since the start of the war, how much Iraq and the U.S. have spent on Iraqi reconstruction, including developing Iraqi security forces and spurring economic development, and how much money the Iraqi government currently has deposited in banks.

Finally, we want to know why the Iraqi Government has not spent more of its oil revenue on providing essential services for the Iraqi people.

It does not make sense for taxpayers in Michigan and across America to pour money into Iraq, accruing billions of dollars of additional debt that must be paid by our children and grandchildren, while the Iraqi government refuses to spend its money to protect and improve the life of its own citizens.

Every taxpayer dollar should be spent wisely, as should every dollar of Iraqi oil revenue. We oppose an arrangement that spends American funds on Iraqi reconstruction and allows the Iraqi government to avoid committing its own financial resources to build a future for the Iraqi people. □

Good Friday Walk Brings Christians Together

Pastors of the Romulus Christian Ministerial Association, members of their congregations, Romulus Mayor Alan R. Lambert, and other local government officials joined together for a Good Friday Walk on March 21. Following prayers at Romulus Historical Park, the group carried a cross through downtown Romulus, ending their trek at Romulus Wesleyan Church, where worship was concluded with sermons by local ministers.

Capitol Update

"No Worker Left Behind" Program Is Among Top Priorities for House Democrats

By State Representative Hoon-Yung Hopgood, 22nd District of Michigan

In keeping with our goal to complete the State's budget by July, the House made significant progress in passing our share of the first round in budget-related bills before the spring recess. Of the bills that were passed, one of the most important components is the designation of $40 million to the "No Worker Left Behind" program. This $40 million of State funds would supplement the $37-million Federal allocation, and will be paid for by the refinancing of State bond debt. This money is critical for helping unemployed workers find retraining and educational opportunities.

The need for this additional funding is clear: 11,000 workers are currently on "No Worker Left Behind" waiting lists because overwhelming demand for the program exhausted Federal funds. About 18,000 workers have been enrolled, and the $37 million will allow the program to help wait-listed workers and new applicants.

I urge the Senate to fund this program, and I urge Congress to further fund retraining programs for Michigan workers whose manufacturing jobs were lost to globalization, downsizing, and company closures.

Hopgood Supports Airport Authority's Decision To Delay Vote on Expansion

I am happy to learn that the Wayne County Airport Authority has decided to wait to vote on the plan to expand Detroit Metropolitan Airport until its next meeting in May. This extension offers the opportunity for the Airport Authority to continue working with the residents and City of Romulus officials, as well as neighboring cities, to reach an agreeable solution.

I received numerous calls and e-mails from Romulus residents expressing their worry over the displacement the expansion would force upon residents, existing businesses, and an elementary school, as well as over the impact on city-wide property values, potential loss of City revenue, and increases in noise disturbance. I and several of my House and Senate colleagues sent a letter to the Airport Authority asking that voting be delayed until more information is given to the public about the anticipated effects of the expansion, and until more dialogue is had on how to lessen such effects.

The commitment of city officials and of the Airport Authority to both the local needs of the community and the economic needs of the region are evident, and give me every confidence that their work over the next two months will see a mutually beneficial outcome.

House Urges Congress To Pass Foreclosure Prevention Act

Hoping for a better Federal response to the foreclosure crisis facing Michigan and much of our country, the House adopted House Resolution 306 and House Concurrent Resolution 78, urging Congress and the President to pass and sign the Foreclosure Prevention Act of 2008. If passed by Congress, this act would provide $4 billion in block grants to help rehabilitate areas hardest-hit by foreclosures; $10 billion in state-issued tax-exempt bonds whose proceeds would go toward refinancing adjustable rate mortgages; and $200 million in pre-foreclosure counseling to help families avoid foreclosure.

By targeting assistance to families at risk of losing their homes, and to communities suffering from high foreclosure rates and declining property values, this legislation offers real solutions to our homeowners and our neighborhoods.

Legislature Creates New "Booster Seat" Requirement

Children under the age of eight and less than four-feet, nine-inches tall will soon be required to ride in manufacturer-certified booster seats following the House passage of Senate Bill 82.

Motor-vehicle crashes are shown to be the largest cause of unintended injury and of death in children age eight and under. Requiring a booster seat will better position small children to fit the designs of safety features in motor vehicles, particularly safety-belt restraints and side curtain air bags.

Passage of Senate Bill 82 follows up on important work the House Transportation Committee did on this issue last summer. It is my hope that Governor Granholm signs this legislation without delay.

Creation of Autism Fund Approved by House

The House passed House Bills 5526 and 5528, both of which I co-sponsored, to create an Autism Research Fund and a state income tax checkoff whose proceeds will go directly into the fund. The heart-breaking increase in autism-related diagnoses, with some statistics showing that a child is diagnosed with an autism-spectrum disorder every 20 minutes, calls for much more research about this disorder, its causes, and its treatment.

These bills are small steps toward learning more about the autism-spectrum disorders that now affect so many families. □

Airport Police Chief Named to ALEAN

Wayne County Airport Authority Police Chief Edward Glomb has been appointed to the Board of Directors for the Airport Law Enforcement Agencies Network (ALEAN), a national, nonprofit organization with nearly 100 airport member agencies. ALEAN facilitates the communication of intelligence among airport law enforcement agencies worldwide. Airports in Canada and the United Kingdom, as well as agencies such as the FBI, Interpol, and the US Secret Service, maintain adjunct memberships.

"I am honored to be selected for this Board," said Glomb. "ALEAN plays a significant role in the ability of airports to share real-time intelligence and in benchmarking best practices for airport law enforcement."

The show – an eclectic mix of songs, poems, scenes, and other musings by one of the 20th century's most influential playwrights – explores paradoxical themes where comedy reveals tragedy, mirth accentuates sorrow, and lyrics counter melody. Skilled Trades Workers Save City Money

Bob Mach, superintendent of the City of Taylor Department of Public Works, is proud of his department's Skilled Trades Division, which is comprised of workers who "know how to get the job done."

David Copple, Rob Ferris, Dennis Harding, and Charley Johnson are the DPW's primary skilled-trades workers. Copple is an HVAC (heating, venting and air conditioning) contractor by trade, Ferris is an electrician, Harding is a carpenter and HVAC specialist, and Johnson is a master plumber.

Most recently, the talented group completed renovations at Taylor Fire Station #3, located on Eureka Road. The project included repainting the interior, installing new cabinetry and ceilings, renovating the firefighters' sleeping quarters, and installing new lighting, carpet, heating/cooling ventilation, and roofing.

"By doing the work 'in-house,' the City of Taylor saved thousands of dollars," said Mach. "These guys do a great job, and never complain about the workload."

The workload is intense. Not only do team members perform special projects like the fire station renovation, they are also in charge of building maintenance for more than 50 City-owned structures, processing several hundred work orders each year for HVAC, plumbing, roof, and general maintenance repairs.

Other significant improvements made by the crew include:

- exterior and interior renovations at the Taylor Community Library.
- numerous renovations to the historical buildings in Heritage Park.
- renovation of the former main fire station (on Pine Street behind City Hall) to add a police crime lab, headquarters for the volunteer Taylor Auxiliary Police, and storage area for the City Clerk's files.
- construction of a new pump house and repair of aerators at Coan Lake in Heritage Park.
- completion of a new roof, exterior painting, duct work, and a parking lot at the Taylor Recreation Center.
- remodeling of the pool room and ping-pong room at the William D. Ford Senior Activity Center.
- renovations – including construction of a new stage – at the Sheridan Community Center. □

Obituaries

Stella Bunnell

Stella Bunnell – a longtime resident of Romulus, Michigan – passed away on Sunday, March 30, 2008, at Sunrise Assisted Living at North Ann Arbor (Ann Arbor, MI), where she had resided for the past five years. She was 99 years old.

The daughter of the late Vincent Szucs and Sophia Keszey was born on Sunday, November 1, 1908, in Delray (which later became part of Detroit), Michigan.

When Stella was about 12, her family moved to Belleville, Michigan, to a farm across from Belleville Lake. After graduating from Belleville High School in 1926, she attended Michigan State Normal College (Ypsilanti, MI) and obtained a Life Certificate in teaching. During Stella's junior year, Mr. Mryon, superintendent of Belleville schools, called her out of college to ask if she would teach fifth grade. She spoke fondly about her years teaching in Belleville, finding it very rewarding and pleasurable, and even wondering why she should be paid for doing something that fun. There is a large mural of her, standing with her 1934 fifth-grade class, in the Meijer store in Belleville.

In 1934, Stella married Garnett A. Bunnell of Romulus. During the Depression, women who married while teaching were automatically released, so she eloped, keeping her marriage a secret, except from family and close friends. In the fall of 1934, she accepted a teaching position in a one-room school, the East Tyler School in Romulus, teaching grades K-8. She spoke of her experience of teaching all the grades as a wonderful opportunity to develop a community of learners, working together. In 1956, she returned to teaching after a hiatus for raising her children. She completed her bachelor of science degree at Eastern Michigan University (Ypsilanti), and then taught at the Gordonier School in Romulus until her retirement in 1972.

Stella was active with Community United Methodist Church (Romulus) and the Romulus Literary Club. She stayed physically active, ice skating in her backyard and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, and swimming in Lake Huron in East Tawas, where the Bunnell family owned a log cabin cottage for 58 years. She also loved round and square dancing, and participated in the Senior Band in Belleville until she was in her early nineties.

This remarkable woman will be missed.

Garnett, Stella's husband, was a businessman in the Romulus community. He owned the Ford dealership, Bunnell Brothers, until 1959, and later owned two other businesses in Romulus.

Stella was the loving mother of four children, Ronald Bunnell (Belleville), Janet (Gary) Haas (Northville, MI), Robert (Ellen) Bunnell (Glasgow, KY), and Carol Ilvonen (Denver, CO). Seven grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren also survive her.

Memorial services were held Wednesday, April 2, at Community United Methodist Church, with her son, Pastor Robert Bunnell, officiating.

Memorial contributions to CUMC (11160 Olive Street, Romulus, MI 48174) or the American Cancer Society would be greatly appreciated by the family.

Dorothy M. "Dot" Hay

Dorothy M. "Dot" Hay of Romulus, Michigan, passed away on Thursday, March 27, 2008, in Livonia, Michigan. She was 83 years old.

The native of Sparta, Illinois, was born on Wednesday, September 24, 1924.

Dot was the co-owner (along with her husband, the late Hazen P. "Ping" Hay) of Hay Heating and Plumbing. She was a woman who enjoyed being "in the know." Dot's interests included cooking, sewing, and cross-stitching. She was also a member of the Progressive Club of Romulus.

Surviving Dot are her son, Larry (Marian) Hay (Bear, DE); her daughter, Karen S. Gregory (Polk City, FL); 6 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and 4 great-great-grandchildren.

Among those who preceded her in passing were her parents, Jess C. and Mildred (Browning) Nelson; and 2 sisters, Catherine and Juanita.

A funeral service was held on Thursday, April 3, at Community United Methodist Church (Romulus), with Reverend David K. Stewart (First United Methodist Church of Wayne-Westland, MI) officiating. Interment was at Michigan Memorial Park (Flat Rock). Arrangements were entrusted to Crane Funeral Home (Romulus).

Memorial contributions to Community United Methodist Church (11160 Olive Street, Romulus, MI 48174) would be greatly appreciated by the family.

Conrad J. Samonek

Conrad J. Samonek of Romulus, Michigan, passed away on Saturday, March 22, 2008, at the Veterans Affairs Ann Arbor Healthcare System (Ann Arbor, MI). He was 72 years old.
